

YURI MICHELE PIEMONTESE

CURRICULUM VITAE

➤ ABOUT

Hi, I'm Yuri Michele Piemontese, a digital graphic designer and front-end developer based in Milan and student in Communication Design Master Degree at Politecnico di Milano.

When I was a child I found a lot of interest in drawing but I always thought designing was more impactful in real life. Whenever I drew a Dragon Ball character I also tried to replicate the user interface of a videogame.

Now I find interest in creative coding, analog photography, illustration and copywriting. In the spare time I love to draw inspiration from listening to alternative music and playing guitar but also philosophy and narrative.

↘ SOFT SKILLS

During this path I've improved those human capabilities that some define *soft skills*TM. Which is limiting, I think. Anyway, here they are:

- good team-working, especially live;
- arguing with dialectic due to my confidence with philosophy;
- remembering not to fall in love with every project, even though I think sometimes it is necessary to make the difference ;).
